Case No. 20-cv-01432

TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

The matter comes before the Court on the motion of Plaintiff, Sirius Computer Solutions, Inc. (“Sirius”), pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(b), to temporarily restrain and enjoin Defendant John Sachs (“Sachs”) from engaging in certain activities, and to require Defendant to account for and return certain property to Sirius.

Pursuant to Sirius’s Verified Complaint for Injunctive and Other Relief, Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction and supporting Memorandum of Law, the Court finds, as to certain claims against Defendant and as to certain requested relief, as explained in open court, that: (a) Sirius has met its burden at this stage of these proceedings demonstrating its right to the relief requested; (b) Sirius is likely to prevail on the merits of its claims against Defendant; (c) Sirius will suffer immediate and irreparable injury if the relief requested is not granted; (d) Sirius does not have an adequate remedy at law; (e) any hardship to the Defendant is outweighed by the hardship to Sirius if the requested relief is not granted; and (f) the public interest would be appropriately served by this Court’s grant of the relief requested.
